Queer Case of a Man Who Sold His Liberty for $23-Demands of Farmers-Children Drowned at Rapid City.

INDIANA.

Convicted Criminal Claims to Have Sold His Liberty for a Mere Song.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CRAWFORDSVILLE, June 9. - John Garrett, of Muncie, has been sent to the penitentiary for two years for confessing that he robbed the house of R. C. Walkup of $60. Two men were first arrested, and Garrett now claims that the other fellow, named Hudson, gave him $23 to say that he did the deed, in order that he (Hudson) would be released. Hudson also promised to see that Garrett was defended. The plan worked, so far as the releasing of Hudson was concerned. Hudson disappeared and never returned to defend Garrett. Garrett then entered a plea of not guilty, and the judge withheld sentence in order to inquire about his record at Muncie. It was found that there had never been anything occurring to his discredit, except his intemperance. Then Garrett again entered a plea of guilty, and the judge gave him two

They demand that the President, United States Senators and all officers be elected by the direct vote of the people; that the law allowing teachers a compensation when attending institutes be repealed; that private soldiers be placed on equal basis with officers in the matter of granting them pensions; that no candi-dates be nominated for office who have held an office in either of the old parties or were ever before a convention for a nomination by the old parties, and that the salaries of the county officials be so reduced as to not have a surplus which may be used toward re-electing them.

Electric Road for Knightstown.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal, KNIGHTSTOWN, June 9 .- A company of Eastern capitalists has had representatives in the city during the past few days conferring with local parties as to the advisability of constructing an electric street-railway to connect the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home with the city. It is said they desire to furnish the required amount of capital for the building of the same, and wish to begin work at once. The project would doubtless prove a paying invest-ment, and it is thought the road will be built immediately.

WHITE CAPS NEVER CONVICTED.

The Alleged Assailants of David Hosea Get Off on the Strength of Alibis. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

Washington, Ind., June 9 .- The arguments in the White Cap case were made Saturday morning and the jury instructed and given the case about 1:30 o'clock. About midnight it returned a sealed verdict, which was read this morning at 8:30.

The defendants were acquitted. Their alibis were too strong for the evidence of the prosecution. The first ballot of the jury stood four for conviction and eight for acquittal. The verdict of the jury is anything but satisfactory to the public. At the close of the arguments, J. W. Ogdon, who was assisting in the prosecution, slapped Prosecutor Mears in the face. The difficulty grew out of a dispute as to the manner in which the affidavits against the accused men were drawn up. This affair probably had a great influence on the jury, which was retiring as it occurred.

The Flogging of Rowe. NEW ALBANY, Ind., June 9 .- Further particulars of the flogging of Walter Rowe by the Harrison county White Caps, early on the morning of the seventh, show that at 2 o'clock on that morning they visited the residence of Rowe, five miles from Corydon, took him from his bed, tied him to a tree and gave him seventy-five lashes on the bare back with switches, lacerating him in a savage manner. They charged him with stealing some chickens from a neighbor, but this charge both Rowe and his wife deny most strenuously, and their neighbors do not believe it. This White Cap organ-organization, it is known, often whips men and women for the gratification of personal ill will and malice. Rowe is a farmer and stands well with the people of his neighborhood. He and his family left their home Saturday afternoon and went to Corydon. He recognized two or three of the White Caps and proposes to prosecute them. It is a fact, however, that in all the prosecutions against the White Caps in Harrison, Crawford and Orange counties there has never been a conviction, as the accused have always succeeded in getting their friends on the juries.

CHEAP WHISKY IN PROSPECT.

Opponents of the Trust Will Erect Two Big Distilleries and Fight the Monopoly.

KANSAS CITY, June 9.-Mr. J. D. Iler, the well-known brewer, returned from Chicago yesterday, where he has been for the last week looking into matters pertaining to the coming war between the distilleries in the corporation known as the Distillers' and Cattle-feeders' Trust and those not in accord with it. The indications point to a warm fight between these, and, it is stated, the distillers not in the trust are preparing to carry the war into Africa. With plenty of capital and plans partially perfected. the anti-trust fellows say they will soon be in position to cope with the output of the trust, both as to quantity and price. To attain this end they are formulating plans and raising capital, says Mr. Her, for the erection of two great distilleries, which will have almost as great a capacity as the combined distilleries of the trust. It is propo ed to erect two distilleries at a cost of about $2,000,000 each. Their joint capacity will be about 20,000 bushels of grain daily, which will be great enough to cope with the combined output of the trust product north of the Ohio river. The location of the distilleries is not yet agreed upon, but it is likely that Kansas City will secure one of them. One of the capitalists directly interested is in Europe. Immediately upon his return, it is asserted that the war will be on, and that the distilleries will be erected and ready for work within

Plank this morning, with over 140 delegates present, representing Canada and almost every State in the Union. Among the delegates are two ladies -Miss Taylor, of Cincinnati, and Miss Shaltrop, of Rochester. The morning session was devoted to the work of organization and the appointment of committees. The afternoon session was a short one, taken up with routine work. The most important action to-day was the passing of resolutions indorsing the Chace-Breckinridge international copyright bill, and directing Secretary McClevy to communicate the same to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Repre-sentatives. The resolutions urge Congress to pass the bill as originally introduced, including type-setting and non-importation

THE BASE-BALL SITUATION.

The Interstate League Awards the Indianapolis Management $500 Damages. The Interstate League has agreed to pay Indianapolis $500, the full amount of the loss sustained by the failure of Galesburg to turn over her players according to the agreement under which the Indianapolis club entered the League. In consideration of this allowance President Martin has waived claim to Taylor and Garvin, the two players Peoria secured from Galesburg, in direct violation of the agreement. He does not, however, waive claim to Martin, the pitcher who signed with Omaha after promising to report here. The Indianapolis management will make an effort to get Martin, and, if necessary, will appeal to the board of arbitration. Thus the threatened in the Interstate League is averted and Indianapolis will go ahead and get together a good strong club. Ran-dall arrived yesterday, and Pettiford is expected to-day. There was no game yesterday, for two excellent reasons. In the first place, the Peoria people maintained their obstinate attitude, even in the face of President McNeely's positive in-structions, and in the next place the rain rendered a game practically out of the question. Umpire Reeves was somewhat torn up at receiving a letter from Mr. MeNeely instructing him, on penalty of dismissal if Peoria insisted on playing Taylor and Garvin, to de

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MUNCIE, June 9 .- To-day's game with Elkhart was a beauty, and belonged to anybody up to the eighth inning. Then, with Muncie one run in the lead, three timely hits and some splendid base-running scored three runs and won the game for the visitors. Muncie's errors were few but costly. Elkhart's six errors were also costly in a way, costing $5 each in fines to the players who made them. The game was one that was postponed from May 3. The score:

TURF EVENTS.

Good Sport at St. Louis on a Muddy Track-Debutante Stakes Won by Lulie B.

St. Louis, June 9.—The morning rains made the track fleavy and the threatening weather near the racing hour kept the attendance down to about four thousand people at the second day of the regular summer meeting. The regular crowd of betters was present and made business lively in the betting sheds.

First Race—selling; purse of $600; one mile. Bertha and Harry Ireland delayed the start half an hour by refusing to go. Finally starter Furgusson sent them away in a bunch, with Bertha left at the post. Harry Glenn took the lead and cut out the running, closely followed by Khaftan. Castaway kept back in the rut until the head of the stretch was reached, when he came through fast and challenged the leaders. Second Race—Handicap; purse of $600; nine furlongs. Starters: Tenacity and Rhody Pringle. Tenacity was decidedly the best mud horse, and won as he pleased.

Fourth Race-Purse of $600; for threeyear-olds; one mile. Fergusson got them away well together, Outlook a head the best of it, with Lulie B. well up. The track was a quagmire, and mud and water flew front and rear, right and left for yards. The favorite made the running to the head of the stretch. Then Lulie B. was given her head and came through with a rush, taking first place from Outlook and holding it to the wire, winning by a length; Outlook second, Ratalpa third. Time, 1:53.

Fifth Race-Purse $500; for three-year-olds and upwards; one mile and a quarter.

Extra Day at Morris Park. MORRIS PARK, June 9 .- This was the second extra day of the meeting here, and more delightful racing weather could not have been experienced. The track was deep in dust. The attendance was very large for an extra day.

Queerly Affected by Electricity. LOCKPORT, N. Y., June 9 .- A remarkable phenomenon is reported from the outlying country districts regarding the electrical display during the recent severe rainstorm. A farmer named Jasper Bacon and his family, residing fifteen miles porthwest of this city, were singularly affected. The house seemed to be enveloped in a bluish, hazy light. The air was pregnant with the electric fluid, and balls of fire danced along the tops of chairs and slid over mantels, or chased each other up and down a hanging-lamp shade. It was a terrible sight to the members of the household. There was no lights in the house, and the terror of the inmates was greatly increased by the paralysis of their muscles. They were unable to move, and sat like mum-mies. The storm lasted four hours, and as it departed the electricity vanished and the use of their limbs and arms returned.

PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS

Views of Senator Cockrell on Silver and on the Sentiment "In God We Trust."

House Bill Laid on the Table-Debate on the Cattle-Shipping Monopoly-Inquiry Concerning Acts of the Cunard Company.

WASHINGTON, June 9.-When the Senate opened to-day Mr. Call offered a resolution, which was referred to the committee on foreign relations, requesting the President to institute negotiations with the government of Spain for such modifications of the treaty with that government as will relieve American cattle, shipped from Florida and elsewhere in the United States, from the present oppressive rates of duty, and on such terms as may be reciprocated, between Cuba and the United States. The silver bill was then taken up, and Mr. Cockrell addressed the Senate. He said that all the benefits that could be claimed for the proposed bill was that the Secretary would be compelled to purchase $500,000 worth of silver every month more than he now had the right to purchase, and that the currency would be increased to that extent. He asked whether there was ance of the existing discrimination in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of gold, and of the issue of gold certificates for gold bullion, and against the free and unlimited coinage of silver bullion in standard dollars, and the issue of certificates for silver bullion? He denied that the free and unlimited coinage of silver bullion, and the issue of certificates for silver bullwould be in derogation obligation to the creditors Nation. He was opposed discrimination either for or against gold or silver. They should be put on a perfect equality as coin and bullion. In season and out of season those who favored the unlimited coinage of silver were taunted with trying to flood the country with depreciated 72-cent dollars, and the noble, grand, national sentiment inscribed on the silver dollar, "In God we trust," was sneered at and derided as meaning, "In God we trust for the other 28 cents to make it a dollar." He believed it to be the duty of Congress, regardless of the possible action of other nations, to retrace its steps, correct the false impressions and apprehensions of European nations, caused by unfounded representations, and restore silver to a perfect equality with gold, both as coin and bullion. At the close of Mr. Cockrell's speech the House silver bill was laid before the Sen-finance committee?

Mr. Teller-Without reference. Mr. Hoar-We should wait until some member of the committee is present. Mr. Teller-Let it be ordered printed and laid on the table. It was so ordered. Mr. Vest, in pursuance of the notice given by him last Saturday, asked the Senate to take up and consider the bill reported by him from the select committee on the transportation and sale of meat products: "To prohibit monopoly in the transportation of cattle to foreign countries," and stated, as a reason why action should be taken imme-diately, that the tariff bill, as he bad been informed by a member of the finance committee, would be before the Senate within

Mr. Platt thought that the Senate should go on and dispose of the silver bill, and he had been waiting, as patiently as he knew how, to bring forward two bills which seemed to him not only of the highest importance but of the highest privilege bills for the admission of two Territories as States. He gave notice that henceforth the silver bill could not be laid aside except on a yea and nay vote.

Mr. Vest intimated that there was no particular reason for haste in the admission of more new States; but the meat business of the country was in a very depressed condition, and legislative action to provide a remedy should not be postponed.

Mr. Stewart asked unanimous consent that on Friday next at 3 o'clock the Senate shall vote on the silver bill and all amendments proposed. The presiding officer [Mr. Ingalls] suggested that there should be at least a quorum present w was asked.

Mr. Vest in defense of them and and Mr. Hale in attack upon he bill provides that no clearance shall ... granted to any vessel plying as a common carrier from the United States to a foreign country, the owners, agents or officers of which shall refuse to receive in the order they may be offered, said vessel having storage room for the same, any cattle for transportation to a foreign country. the said cattle being in sound condition suitable for transportation, and the shipper tendering reasonable freight therefor, who shall make any contract or agreement creating a monopoly of the capacity of said vessel for carrying cattle in violation of the law governing and regulating the duties and obligations of common carriers to the public, and providing unjust discrimination between shippers. Mr. Hoar asked whether Mr. Vest meant to assert that there was not to be a right to contract in advance for the transportation of cattle by lake, river or ocean.

Mr. Vest replied that wherever a contract was made legitimately, and not for monopoly—when it was made in the course of ordinary commercial trade—then, as a matter of course, the bill would not apply. But when a contract was made for the whole capacity of a ship, or a line of ships, that was a monopoly against which the bill

Mr. Reagan also defended the bill and argued in favor of its passage Mr. Hale moved to amend the bill by inserting the words, "not already contracted for in good faith by persons or parties having cattle for transportation, at the date of such contract, sufficient to occupy such storage room. Mr. Vest opposed the amendment as one that would entirely neutralize the bill. It was aimed.

was well known, he said, that one man controlled every foot of storage room in every cattle-ship to Great Britain, and the amendment would simply say to that man, "Go on and make your contract." Mr. Hoar said that, in the case mentioned, where all the storage capacity of a ship was contracted for, that ship ceased to be a common carrier and became a pri-

Mr. Vest denied that statement, but said that if that were decided to be the law no harm could result from the passage of the bill. If the contract constituted a charter party, then the law against common carriers would not apply. But he asserted that these contracts did not constitute charter parties. A whole steamship line was taken by one shipper [Mr. Eastman]. and it was done to control the English market and to shut out all the other cattledealers of the United States. The result was that prices of cattle were put up and put down whenever this monopoly chose, because it controlled the transportation. Mr. Hale argued in support of the amend-ment offered by him. Without it, he said, the bill struck at all prudent and thoughtful business men. It would not allow a shipper in the Senator's own State to make a contract for transportation in a vessel at New York or Boston that would justify him in sending his cattle to the seaboard. If the Senate was prepared to reject so limited an amendment as that offered by him, then it was prepared to take the whole business in its own hands, and really to injure the class of men who ought to be Mr. Vest-We will risk that. Mr. Hale-It is a great risk. This bill would prostrate and annihilate business by taking away from the business man the first necessary ingredients in businessforethought and provision.

The vote on Mr. Hale's amendment was—yeas, 10; nays, 23. No quorum having voted.

the Senate, without further action on the bill or amendment, adjourned.

WASHINGTON, June 9 .- In the House today, on motion of Mr. Comstock of Minnesota, the title of the silver bill passed Saturday was amended so as to read as follows: "Directing the purchase of silver bullion and the issue of treasury notes thereon and for other purposes." Mr. Lodge of Massachusetts offered the following resolution:

That the Secretary of the Treasury be directed to inform this House whether it is true that the Cunard Steamship Company, on Saturday last, refused to obey the orders of the officers of the United States to give return passage to certain immigants landed at New York by said company in violation of the contract-labor laws of the United States, and, if so, what steps, if any, have been taken to refuse entry to the steamships of said company until they have complied with the laws of the United States and have made due reparation for their refusal to obey the orders of the officers thereof. The resolution was referred to the committee on foreign affairs. The floor was then accorded to the committee on the District of Columbia. Several District bills were passed, and then the House work a recess, the evening session to be for the con-
